

Please do not weaken the telephone privacy act. By signing up for the list, we made it clear that we don't want unsolicited calls even if we have a "previous business relationship" with these companies. Many will define that as having called us (unsolicited) before. Please leave us in peace in our own homes! The popularity of anti-spamware, anti-spyware and anti-pop-upware for computers should show you how people feel about unsolicited contact. Make them continue to leave us alone. If we want their services, we'll let them know, or they can advertise by mail, tv, or newspapers like everyone else. Let the people of Indiana decide for themselves what they want, not the attorneys and the big businesses.
